♻ Recycling

Every day, people throw away lots of trash. Some of it can be recycled. Recycling means turning old things into new things. Paper, plastic bottles, glass jars, and cans can often be recycled.

When you put items in the recycling bin, a truck takes them to a recycling center. There, workers and machines sort them. Old paper can become new paper. Cans can be melted and made into new cans. Recycling helps keep trash out of landfills, and it saves trees and other natural resources.
