🚌 The Bus Driver's Birthday

Mr. Henry had driven bus number 12 for twenty years. Every morning he greeted each kid by name. He knew who liked to sit up front and who needed a reminder to tie their shoes. When it rained, he waited an extra minute for kids running late.

One day, Aiden overheard the principal say that Friday was Mr. Henry's birthday. Aiden had an idea. He whispered it to everyone on the bus, one seat at a time. The plan had to stay a secret.

On Thursday, the kids made cards in art class. On Friday morning, as Mr. Henry opened the doors at the first stop, a dozen voices shouted, "Happy birthday, Mr. Henry!" Kids held up cards and a banner that said "Best Bus Driver Ever." At every stop, more kids climbed on with cards. By the time they reached school, Mr. Henry's dashboard was covered. He wiped his eyes and laughed. "Twenty years," he said, "and this is my best ride yet."
