Name: Date: Score: / 6

The Fox and the Crane: Comprehension

Fiction story · about 145 words

Read the story. Then answer each question. Circle the best answer or write your answer on the lines.

The Fox and the Crane

Long ago, Fox invited Crane to dinner. Fox liked to play tricks. He served soup in a flat, shallow dish. Fox lapped up his soup easily with his tongue. But Crane, with her long, thin beak, could only wet the tip of it. She went home hungry.

"Thank you for dinner," Crane said politely. "Please come to my house tomorrow."

The next evening, Fox arrived at Crane's home. The smell of delicious stew filled the air. Crane served the stew in tall jars with narrow necks. Crane dipped her long beak into the jar and ate happily. Fox could not fit his snout into the jar. He could only lick the outside.

Fox's stomach growled. He looked at Crane, and he understood. "I tricked you," he said, "and now I know how it feels." From that day on, Fox treated his friends fairly.

1. Main idea: What is the story mostly about?

   A. a crane learns to cook B. two friends go fishing

   C. a fox learns how it feels to be tricked D. a fox builds a house

2. Detail: What did Fox serve the soup in?

   A. a flat, shallow dish B. a cup C. a tall jar D. a bowl with a lid

3. Inference: Why could Crane not eat the soup?

   A. The soup was too hot. B. Her long, thin beak did not work with a flat dish.

   C. She did not like soup. D. She was not hungry.

4. Detail: What did Crane serve the stew in?

   A. tall jars with narrow necks B. big pots C. paper bags D. flat dishes

5. Character: How did Fox change at the end?

   A. He treated his friends fairly. B. He stopped eating. C. He moved away.

   D. He played more tricks.

6. Inference: What is the lesson of this story?

ANSWER KEY

The Fox and the Crane: Comprehension (answers)

Fiction story · about 145 words

Read the story. Then answer each question. Circle the best answer or write your answer on the lines.

The Fox and the Crane

Long ago, Fox invited Crane to dinner. Fox liked to play tricks. He served soup in a flat, shallow dish. Fox lapped up his soup easily with his tongue. But Crane, with her long, thin beak, could only wet the tip of it. She went home hungry.

"Thank you for dinner," Crane said politely. "Please come to my house tomorrow."

The next evening, Fox arrived at Crane's home. The smell of delicious stew filled the air. Crane served the stew in tall jars with narrow necks. Crane dipped her long beak into the jar and ate happily. Fox could not fit his snout into the jar. He could only lick the outside.

Fox's stomach growled. He looked at Crane, and he understood. "I tricked you," he said, "and now I know how it feels." From that day on, Fox treated his friends fairly.

1. Main idea: What is the story mostly about?

   A. a crane learns to cook B. two friends go fishing

   C. a fox learns how it feels to be tricked D. a fox builds a house

2. Detail: What did Fox serve the soup in?

   A. a flat, shallow dish B. a cup C. a tall jar D. a bowl with a lid

3. Inference: Why could Crane not eat the soup?

   A. The soup was too hot. B. Her long, thin beak did not work with a flat dish.

   C. She did not like soup. D. She was not hungry.

4. Detail: What did Crane serve the stew in?

   A. tall jars with narrow necks B. big pots C. paper bags D. flat dishes

5. Character: How did Fox change at the end?

   A. He treated his friends fairly. B. He stopped eating. C. He moved away.

   D. He played more tricks.

6. Inference: What is the lesson of this story?

   Treat others the way you want to be treated.